

- Despite historical ties, very few Hungarian Croats
 - Around twenty-six thousand (2011 census)
 - Around fifty thousand (Croatian government)
- Spread across Transdanubia
 - Mainly Burgenland (mostly in Austria), Baranya, and Bačka (mostly in Serbia)
 - No Croats or Croatian signs in Pécs (capital of Baranya)...
- Subdivided into groups based on settlement patterns and cultural differences
 - Some significant groups include the Bunjevci, Šokci, and Burgenland Croats
 - Bunjevci and Burgenland Croats are much more important outside of Hungary
